DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's response and amendments received October 22, 2007 and November 2, 2007 are acknowledged.

Claims 3-21 and 23-33 have been canceled.

Claims 1, 2, and 22 have been amended.

Claims 34-55 have been added.

Claims 1, 2, 22, and 34-55 are pending in the instant application.

Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims drawn to single domain antibodies and the species of von Willebrand Factor as a first antigen and serum albumin as a second antigen in the replies filed on October 22, 2007 and November 2, 2007 are acknowledged. The traversal is on the grounds that the claims do not require binding to two distinct antigens. The examiner agrees, and as was indicated in the telephone discussion of October 17, 2007, election of vWF as the antigen bound by the single domain antibody compositions is considered to be fully responsive. Note also that the claims as amended November 2 only appear to recite vWF as the bound antigen. Therefore, the requirement for the election of a first and second antigen which are different proteins has been rendered moot by applicant's arguments and amendments to the claims and as such is withdrawn. Note that applicant traversed the species election but did not appear to traverse the restriction requirement as it pertained to the inventive groups and has canceled claims to the non-elected groups as part of the response received November 2, 2007. The restriction requirement among groups has not been withdrawn such that divisional applications claiming the non-elected subject matter may be pursued in subsequent applications at applicant's discretion.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Upon consideration of the new claims presented by applicant as part of the response received November 2, 2007 the following species election is set forth.

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of anti-von Willebrand Factor antibodies. The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. Specifically, there are numerous distinct recited SEQ ID numbers. Applicant is to elect a single sequence for searching purposes. Note that only a single sequence is required because the independent claim does not require more than one antibody, and because in claims reciting two or more single domain antibodies, there is no requirement that the single domain antibodies are different (i.e. claims read on multimers of a single antibody). Note that the sequences recited by SEQ ID number comprise distinct amino acid sequences and thus the structures of the single domain antibodies are distinct. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1, 2, and 22 for example are generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

2. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
